

What up?!

Once again, I'm sorry for the delay getting this out (I think I'm like 0 for 3 on writing these in a timely manner), but this time I don't think I have much time to touch on everyone. So this will be relatively short.

Here's where we stand after an exciting (but yet didn't have many upsets) Week 3!

On the whole, we did SO much better in Week 3 vs Week 2, and most of that was driven by the rushing picks we all went with. SEVEN rushing picks went for negative points (5 different players – Kaleb Johnson was picked by 3 of us). And it was actually a pretty good day in the Alvarez household as Hollie and I had the two best scores of the week (83 points and -61 points respectively), but the best individual pick of the week belongs to Chapa (86 total points this week). RJ Harvey racked up (down?) and impressive -260 points behind 180 yards, 2 rushing touchdowns, and a receiving touchdown in that banana land of a game between TCU and UCF.

The biggest movers were Sam (150 points) and Hollie both up three spots, while Logan (955 total points) dropped five spots.

Games start tonight, so let's get ready to do it again! As always, don't forget to send me your picks!

Peace!

