

What it do?!

I swear one of these days, work won't be busy and I'll get this out to you on like a Monday, Tuesday, or even – GASP – a Sunday! But today is not that day, obviously. Once again, I'm going to have to keep this short which sucks because I feel like I'm robbing you of all my hilarious quips and nuanced questions that get the college football conversations rolling!

Anyways, here's where we stand after four weeks of madness.

Player	Rank	Total Score	Pts. From 1st
Brian	1	-207.0
Jacob	2	422.0	629.0
Chapa	3	607.0	814.0
Spencer	4	1,308.0	1,515.0
Dario	5	1,754.0	1,961.0
Sam	6	1,832.0	2,039.0
Logan	7	1,888.0	2,095.0
Mike G.	8	1,993.0	2,200.0
Hollie	9	2,089.0	2,296.0
Jackson	10	2,312.0	2,519.0
Grant	11	2,326.0	2,533.0
Marc	12	2,336.0	2,543.0
Mike M.	13	2,635.0	2,842.0
Ian	14	3,708.0	3,915.0
Moni	15	3,718.0	3,925.0

Brian is doing his best Grant impression by having a negative score a quarter through the season, while Grant is planning an insurrection against me. If he reaches out to you yelling “Down with the Commish!” just ignore him, but on the field, he’s slowly but surely gaining ground. Logan might be the most bipolar player of all time. Look at his line bouncing up and down like a pogo stick. Your truly, has slipped into second place, while Spencer, Dario, and Sam hang out in 4th-6th place. Y’all guys are doing really well this year. Ian is catching Moni in the wrong direction by picking basically all Oklahoma players against Tennessee. Yet again I say that’s a BOLD strategy. Mike M. needs to (and will) get it turned around. He has slipped in the standings every single week so far. Marc got his first negative week of the year which helped him move up a spot.

There is only about 900 points separating 5th place from 13th place which should make for a very exciting finish!

As always, don’t forget to send me your picks and cooks some bacon this weekend as the Ags BTHO the piggies.

