What's goin' on, gang?!

FIVE of the top seven teams lost this weekend. Georgia lost to Auburn, Notre Dame lost to BYU, Indiana lost to Ohio State, Alabama lost to Tennessee, and Texas lost AGAIN. What a beautiful, stupid sport. Miami almost joined the party but survived Florida State in double overtime. Apparently being ranked number one is a curse now, so congratulations to the Hurricanes on inheriting whatever nonsense is coming next.

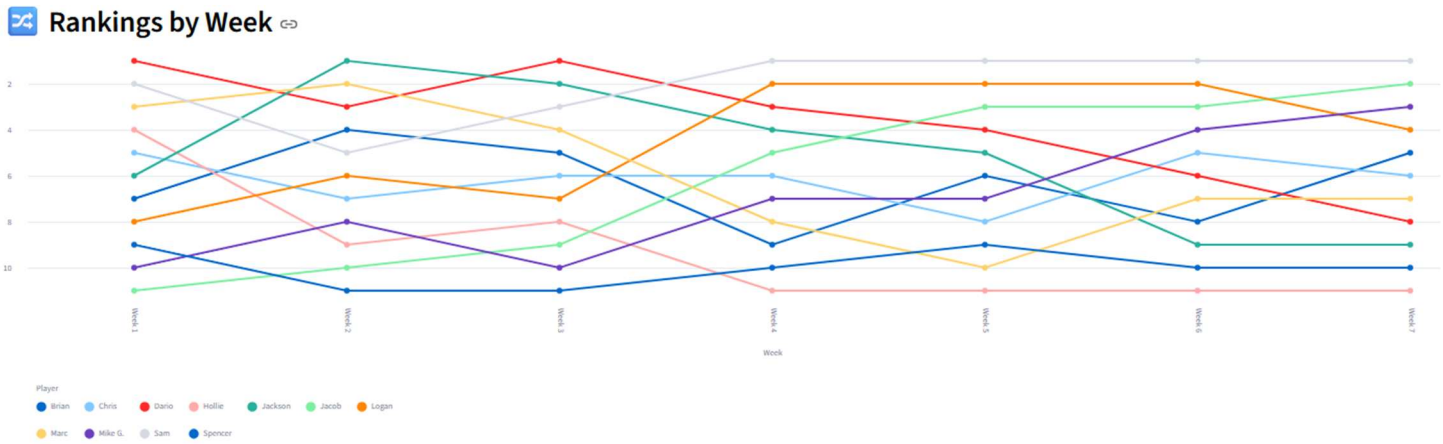

Before we get into this week, I owe Spencer a correction.

Last week, I publicly roasted him for picking LJ Martin twice AND picking him while injured, but Spencer actually picked Cam Cook. That's my bad.

Cook scored -82 points, so Spencer's Week 6 score was 185 instead of 667.

Anyways, here's where we stand after Week 7:

Rank	Player	Score	Pts. From 1st
1	Sam	2,486	0
2	Jacob	2,799	313
3	Mike G.	3,428	942
4	Logan	3,435	949
5	Brian	3,506	1,020
6	Chris	3,589	1,103
7	Marc	3,613	1,127
8	Dario	3,812	1,326
9	Jackson	3,967	1,481
10	Spencer	4,297	1,811
11	Hollie	5,294	2,808

Sam continues his reign with another really good week. Pairing Darian Mensah and Malachi Toney against Florida State worked beautifully. Mensah threw for 326 yards and three touchdowns, while Toney caught 154 yards and two touchdowns. That's -124 points between the two. Jake Pope added FIFTEEN tackles against Air Force for 25 points. Cam Cook only ran for 40 yards, but a receiving touchdown helped keep that pick from being a complete dud.

I move into second place after a 141-point week! Umari Hatcher went OFF against Louisville with 224 receiving yards and a touchdown for -148 points. Darian Mensah added -16, Jaylin Carter ran for 135 yards, and Ethan Wesloski recorded nine tackles. I do wish Carter could've found the end zone at least once, but I'm not going to complain too much. From last place after Week 1 to second place after Week 7. Please direct all questions about my incredible coaching turnaround to my agent.

Mike G. has officially climbed onto the podium! Malachi Toney did most of the damage with -108 points. Jaylin Carter had his 135 rushing yards, Curly Ordonez recorded eight tackles, and Arch Manning threw for 173 yards and one touchdown against Florida. Mike finished with 419 points and now leads Logan by SEVEN points. That's the difference between third place and getting absolutely nothing. No pressure.

Logan had our worst score of the week with 869 points and drops from second to fourth. Darian Mensah was great. Unfortunately, that's basically where the good news ends. Jonaz Walton ran for 17 yards and a touchdown, Chris Marshall caught 28 yards, and Peyton Bowen followed last week's pick-six against Texas with five tackles and no turnovers. The three picks outside of Mensah combined for 885 points. That'll do it. Former Aggie Chris Marshall letting someone down? I'm shocked. SHOCKED.

Brian had the second-best week at 105 points and jumps from eighth to fifth! He used the same Mensah/Toney combination as Sam, but instead of Jake Pope's 15 tackles, he got Grant Godfrey's 15 tackles. Apparently the formula this week was Miami passing game plus a tackler who spent the entire afternoon working. Wayshawn Parker had 98 rushing yards without a touchdown, but Brian still got within 78 points of third place. Third through seventh are separated by only 185 points. This is going to get obnoxious very quickly.

Chris drops one spot despite a perfectly respectable 495-point week. Gunner Stockton threw for 272 yards and two touchdowns, Mark Fletcher Jr. ran for 66 yards and a touchdown, and Jesse Legree caught 108 yards and two touchdowns. Vincent Firenze only recording five tackles was the weak spot, but nothing here was particularly terrible. Also, Chris picked Legree for the FIRST time. I'm pointing that out for absolutely no reason whatsoever. Definitely not setting up anything later in this recap.

Marc holds steady in seventh after a 384-point week. Gio Lopez threw four touchdowns for 13 points, KJ Duff had 113 receiving yards and two touchdowns for -26, and Nicholas Rodriguez recorded 13 tackles. Jamal Roberts only running for 39 yards was really the only thing keeping this from being an awesome week. Three good picks and one rusher getting 322 points. That feels like the official Stat Game experience.

Dario…
You know what's better than picking a receiver who catches 108 yards and two touchdowns? Picking him when you haven't already picked him. Dario selected Jesse Legree in WEEK FOUR. Legree had 109 yards and two touchdowns then. This week, he had 108 yards and two touchdowns. Nearly identical performances! Wonderful consistency! Unfortunately, the first one got Dario -18 points and the second one gets him FOUR HUNDRED. Braden Atkinson throwing for 347 yards and three touchdowns and Aiden Sullivan recording 11 tackles deserved better. Dario went heavy on Oregon State, and honestly, it worked.

Jackson stays in ninth with 561 points. DeSean Bishop was excellent with 159 rushing yards and two touchdowns for -118 points. The other three picks were less exciting. Keelon Russell threw for 147 yards with no passing touchdowns, Cayden Lee caught 62 yards, and Yassine Falke recorded eight tackles. Nothing disastrous, but no one outside of Bishop really helped. Sometimes your rusher runs for two touchdowns and you still spend the whole afternoon watching everyone else pass you.

Spencer's corrected Week 6 score helped his season total considerably, but this week's 785 didn't help him move out of tenth. Gunner Stockton and Jaylin Carter were solid. Sione Hala recorded seven tackles. Clayton Coppock, however, caught 19 yards for 362 points. At least he played, wasn't a duplicate, and was on the correct team. Given our recent history, those are all meaningful accomplishments.

Lastly…HOLLIE WON THE WEEK?!
After having the worst score for THREE consecutive weeks, my lovely wife decided she was tired of being publicly humiliated and scored -99. Trinidad Chambliss accounted for four touchdowns for 19 points. Isaiah Myers had 135 receiving yards and two touchdowns for -70. Jared Lloyd recorded 10 tackles. Then Jackson Gutierrez did basically everything for Navy against UTSA. He ran for 139 yards and two touchdowns, threw two more touchdowns, and even caught a 63-yard pass because apparently having one job is boring. As her rusher, that got Hollie -198 points. She's still in last place, but she beat every single one of us this week. Respect the troops. Respect the comeback. Please don't tell her how much time I spend researching my picks.

We're getting into the part of the season where one good week can completely rearrange the standings. Mike G. is seven points ahead of Logan. Brian is 78 points off the podium. Dario is one spreadsheet search away from having a much better season.
Don't forget to send me your Week 8 picks, check who you've already used, and good luck this weekend!

CJ CARR FARTS IN THE TUB AND BITES THE BUBBLES

FOX INDIA

00

TULANE
MEMPHIS
5-1
(2-0)
10
ESPN
2ND 1:00 9
16
TULANE
2-3
(1-1)

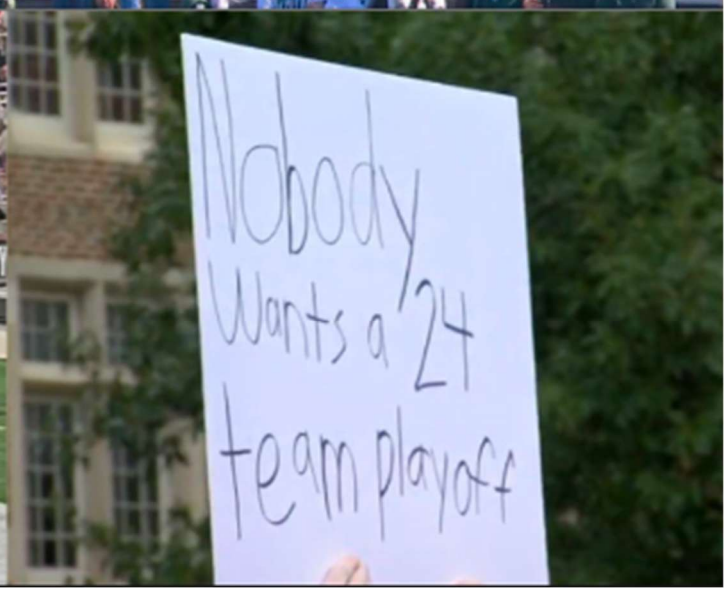

THE NORTH FACE
Now open!

25 NORTHWESTERN
4-1
3
peacock
2:02
1ST
7
MICHIGAN STATE
2-4

Nobody Wants a 24
team playoff

FOX BIG NOON SATURDAY
INDIANA HOOSIERS
1ST FUMBLE LOST IN 1,437 SCRIMMAGE PLAYS

FOX BIG NOON SATURDAY

FLORIDA
4-2
26
6:22
4TH 23
17
7 TEXAS
4-1

FLORIDA
27
1ST & 10
1:44
24
7 TEXAS

CINCINNATI
41
5:35
35
WEST VIRGINIA

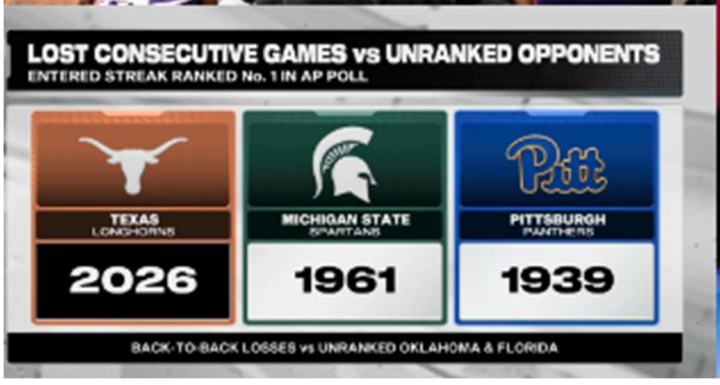

FOX BIG NOON SATURDAY
OHIO STATE 19
15 INDIANA
4TH 5:7
2ND DOWN

FOX BIG NOON SATURDAY
OHIO STATE 19
15 INDIANA
MERCHANTS
4TH 1:02
4TH & 4

FOX
OHIO STATE 19
15 INDIANA
4TH 1:02 23
1ST & 10

NORTHWESTERN 0

17
4:22
7

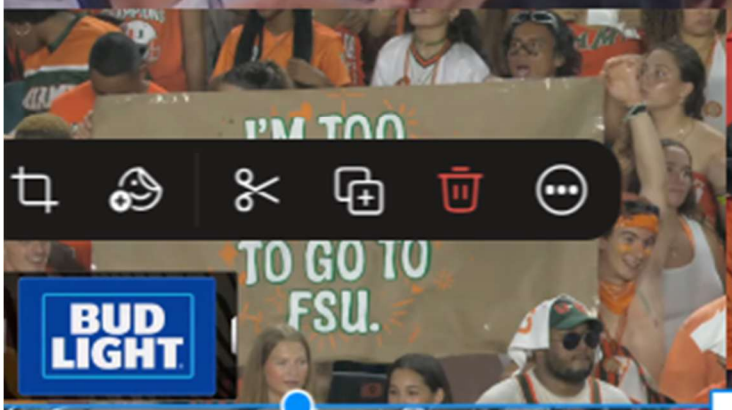

LOST CONSECUTIVE GAMES vs UNRANKED OPPONENTS
ENTERED STREAK RANKED No. 1 IN AP POLL
TEXAS
LONGHORNS
2026
MICHIGAN STATE SPARTANS 1961
Pitt
PITTSBURGH
PANTHERS
1939
BACK-TO-BACK LOSSES vs UNRANKED OKLAHOMA & FLORIDA

'S

ALABAMA
5-1
(3-1)
10
1ST & 10
:43
4TH 25
26
14 TENNE
5-1
(2-1)

CHASKO
5

I'M TOO TO GO TO FSU.
BUD LIGHT

LEGENDS

NEBRASKA