What it do?!

Remember last week when I said I wasn't letting A&M suck me back in?

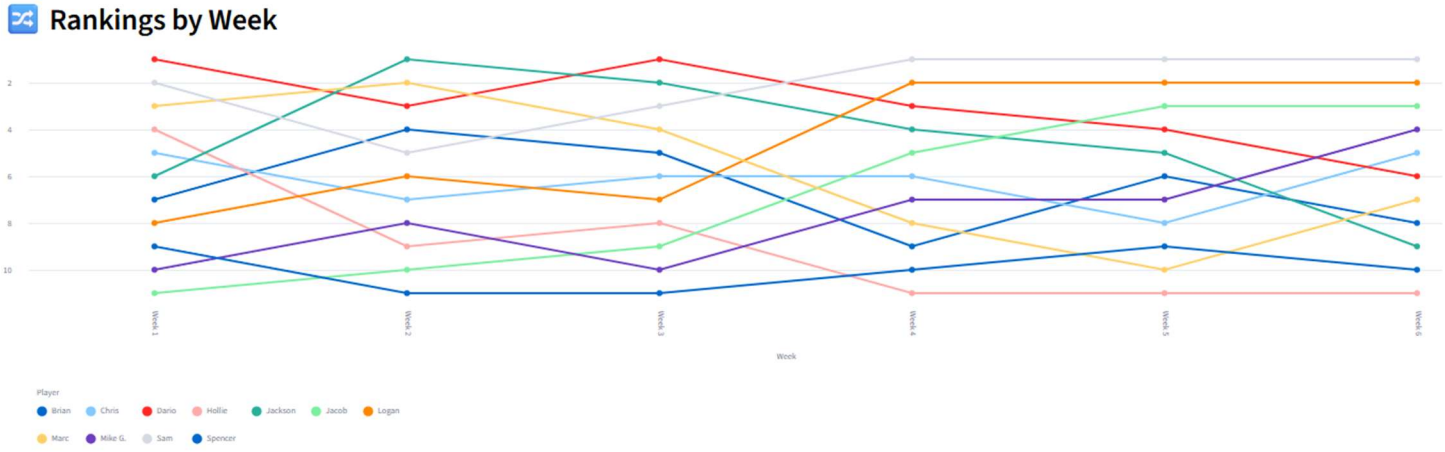

Good call by me.

Another six-point offensive explosion. Missouri beat us 27-6, and I'm beginning to think Arkansas might just be terrible. But Texas lost to Oklahoma, so at least the universe provided a little consolation prize. Nothing brings people together quite like watching someone else's team suffer.

Anyways, we had FOUR people go negative this week, two more duplicates, and a whole lot of Jesse Legree. The top of the standings is getting VERY interesting.

Here's where we stand after Week 6:

Rank	Player	Score	Pts. From 1st
1	Sam	2,365	0
2	Logan	2,566	201
3	Jacob	2,658	293
4	Mike G.	3,009	644
5	Chris	3,094	729
6	Dario	3,178	813
7	Marc	3,229	864
8	Brian	3,401	1,036
9	Jackson	3,406	1,041
10	Spencer	3,994	1,629
11	Hollie	5,393	3,028

Sam maintains first place, but that giant lead from two weeks ago is disappearing quickly. DeSean Bishop ran for 138 yards and a touchdown, Reed Harris caught two touchdowns, and Kevin Adams recorded seven tackles. All perfectly respectable – Except for Dylan Raiola…FORTY-THREE passing yards. He got benched against UCLA and finished with 357 points. Patrick MaApartments has been evicted.
Sam's lead over Logan is down to 201 points, and I'm only another 92 behind Logan. Just 293 points separates the entire podium. Things are getting spicy!

Logan stays in second with a solid 394-point week. Cam Cook ran for 141 yards and two touchdowns for -82 points, while Carlos Hernandez added 117 receiving yards and a touchdown. The Alabama/Georgia selections weren't quite as productive. Keelon Russell threw for 185 yards and one touchdown, and KJ Bolden recorded seven tackles. Nothing disastrous, but not enough to really capitalize on Sam's passer imploding. Still, Logan has now cut Sam's lead in three consecutive weeks. That's gotta make our current leader at least a little nervous.

Yours truly had the best score of the week! By six points. Don't look too closely at that part. Braden Atkinson threw for 409 yards and FIVE touchdowns, three of which went to my receiver, Jesse Legree. Legree finished with 191 receiving yards and three touchdowns for -282 points. The Oregon State stack combined for -441. Nate Sheppard ran for 99 yards and two touchdowns for TWO points. One more rushing yard and we could've had a nice, clean zero, but whatever. Then EJ Smith recorded four tackles. FOUR. The same guy who had 21 tackles when Sam picked him two weeks ago. I spent Saturday night watching my tackler try his absolute hardest to erase everything my offense accomplished. Thankfully, -139 was enough to win the week and get me within shouting distance of first place.

Mike G. jumps from seventh to fourth after a -74-point week. He also had Jesse Legree's -282 and Nate Sheppard's two points, but paired them with Ashton Daniels and North Dakota State's Donovan Woolen. Woolen recorded 11 tackles against UNLV, which was a really good pick. Mikey, I appreciate you keeping the geography of this game interesting. We've got people picking all the usual suspects and you're up in Fargo finding tacklers.

Chris moves from eighth to fifth with a weekly score of -2. The Utah duo of Devon Dampier and Wayshawn Parker was awesome. Dampier accounted for four touchdowns, while Parker ran for 171 yards and two touchdowns for -142 points. Reed Harris caught another two touchdowns, and TJ Dottery recorded 12 tackles. Four good picks. No duplicates. Look at that personal growth!

Dario drops from fourth to sixth despite having a good 261-point week. Dylan Riley had 214 total yards and two touchdowns, including 150 on the ground, for -100 points. Trinidad Chambliss accounted for four touchdowns, and Jeremiah Smith caught two. Then Dario picked Colin Simmons. Again with the Longhorns, man. Simmons recorded four tackles for 300 points. I've said it before and I'll say it again: if you're going to betray us, at least make it worth your while.

Marc had the second-best score of the week at -133 and jumped from tenth to seventh. Jesse Legree was obviously a HUGE part of that, but Cam Cook added -82 and Popo Aguirre recorded 12 tackles.

Michael Hawkins Jr. was fine with 317 total yards and a rushing touchdown. Just a really good week all around. Six fewer points and you would've won the week, but unfortunately for you, I'm the one writing this recap so we're focusing on MY victory.

Brian finished with 411 points and somehow moved from sixth to eighth. Not because his week was bad, but because apparently everyone around him decided to figure this game out at the same time.
Drew Mestemaker threw for 304 yards and accounted for three touchdowns for -14 points. DeSean Bishop added 24, Collin Dixon caught a touchdown, and Chris Thompson Jr. recorded seven tackles.
Brian now sits FIVE points ahead of Jackson. That's one-fifth of a tackle. This seems like a healthy and reasonable thing for grown adults to care about.

Jackson had Peyton Bowen, which means he got to benefit from Texas losing AND an awesome defensive performance. Seven tackles, an interception, and a touchdown got him -175 points.
C.J. Carr threw three touchdowns, but Justice Haynes only ran for 69 yards and Jordan Shipp caught 93 yards without scoring. A perfectly decent 430-point week, but decent wasn't enough to keep up with the four people going negative.
Spencer... We JUST did this. Braden Atkinson got you -159 points. Great pick. Collin Dixon scored a touchdown. Muaaz Byard recorded six tackles. Fine.Then you selected LJ Martin.
You already picked LJ Martin in WEEK TWO.

DUPLICATE!

But wait! There's more! Martin was also ruled out injured before this week's game. So even if you hadn't already selected him, you were still getting 400 points. A duplicate of an unavailable player. Really covering all your bases here.

Lastly, Hollie had the worst score for the THIRD consecutive week, but this time she decided to add a duplicate to the mix. Julian Sayin threw for 242 yards and four touchdowns. That would've been an excellent 38-point pick. Unfortunately, she already picked him in Week 3. Kewan Lacy ran for 39 yards and a touchdown, Wyatt Young caught a touchdown, and Ray Coney recorded seven tackles for A&M.
None of those picks were particularly awful, but turning 38 points into 400 will ruin things pretty quickly. She's now 3,028 points behind Sam. Bowl Season does have its own winner, which feels like a useful thing to mention right about now.

We have 11 people playing this game, and somehow checking whether we've already picked someone is becoming our greatest collective challenge.
Please look at your previous picks. Please check injury reports. Please continue picking players who score three receiving touchdowns when I also pick them.
Don't forget to send me your Week 7 picks, and good luck this weekend!

TOTAL YARDS
K. MOULTON 134
J. HECKLINSKI 118
DJ VONNAHME 44
R. VANDER ZEE 30
T. DIAZ 23
Z. ORTWERTH 15
WASHINGTON 14

GEORGIA AT ALABAMA
Coors LIGHT

FOX CFB
HOUSTON 21 3 K-STATE

ESPN
27 17

OREGON DUCKS
TURNOVERS 5
1ST DOWNS 4
COMPLETIONS 6

FIRST RANKED WIN
UNDER BILL BELICHICK

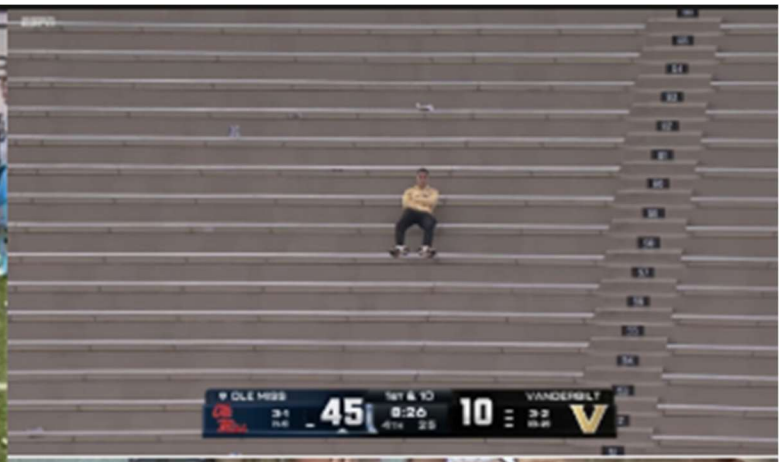

GAMEDAY

21
3
VANDERBILT

COLLEGE FOOTBALL
22
EASTERN MICHIGAN
17
AKRON

40
NC Education
Lottery

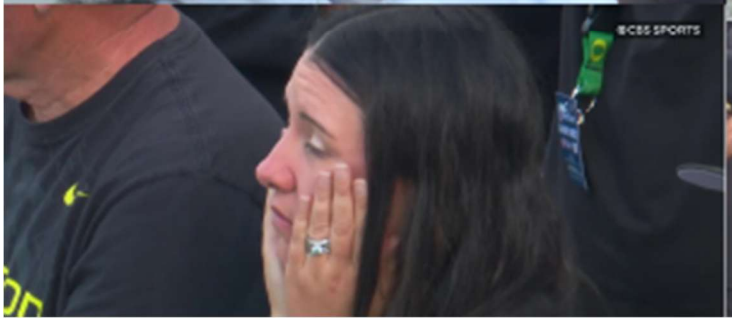

OLE MISS
45
1st & 10
9:26
10
VANDERBILT
V

TEXAS
17
ESPN
10:07
23
OKLAHOMA

TEXAS
24
1st & 10
:19
24
OKLAHOMA

CBS SPORTS

1st & 10
PAC-12
SAN DIEGO ST
0
35
OREGON ST

CARDINAL
STANFORD
0
4:14
44
NOTRE DAME
2nd & 6

#3 BOISE STATE
4-1 (1-0)
15
CALL STANDS
1ST :45
13

LSU
34
FINAL/OT
35

LSU
34
FINAL/OT
35

MARCEL REED
1 Pass Attempt in Missouri territory
Intercepted

LSU
QB
10
SAM
LEAVITT
THIS SEASON
Only FBS player with INT in all of team's games

SOONERS